SOURCE OF ACTIVITY:

On 11-17-17 I (Willis) was working full uniformed patrol, in a marked black-and-white police vehicle, as an officer for the Vacaville Police Department. At about 2011 hours other officers and I were dispatched to 85 Calle Chapala in reference to a verbal argument between an unknown male and female.

INVESTIGATION:

Upon arrival to the location, I parked my patrol around the corner from 85 Calle Chapala and approached the mobile home on foot. As I awaited the arrival of my cover unit, I observed a Chevrolet SUV leaving the location in question. I advised other responding units of the Chevy's departure and indicated it may have been involved in the reported disturbance. This SUV was later detained by Officer Crigger, and a female occupant of the vehicle was arrested after she was found to have numerous outstanding warrants (See VVPD case# 17-09192)

Upon the arrival of my cover officer, G. Fernandez, we approached the front door of 85 Calle Chapala on foot. Once I reached the front door, I knocked on it several times. Soon the door was answered by a white female adult (later identified as Sherri DAVIS). DAVIS identified herself as the home owner and initially indicated that she was the only one present inside the trailer. I explained to DAVIS why we were called to the location and again asked her if anyone else was present inside her mobile home. DAVIS then admitted her friend "Larry" and "Craig" were inside the house in their respected bedrooms. I then briefly questioned DAVIS about why she would lie to me about the house being occupied by parties other than herself. DAVIS told me she was confused at which time I clarified what I meant by other people inside. DAVIS told me she understood at which time I asked DAVIS if we could come inside her residence to check for additional people and confirm no one had been fighting. DAVIS gave us consent to enter her home to check on the other occupants.

Prior to entering the mobile home, I asked DAVIS for Craig's last name. DAVIS identified her friend Craig's last name as WHEELWRIGHT. After hearing WHEELWRIGHT's full name, I immediately recognized him as someone who I had personal contact with in the past. Based on this past personal knowledge, I knew WHEELWRIGHT had been arrested by VPD on numerous occasions, that he was a formal parolee, and that he was a heavy methamphetamine user.

After entering the mobile home, I stepped into the residence's living room which was just beyond the front door. Almost immediately, I observed what appeared to be a clear plastic wrapper containing a white crystalline substance. The wrapper was laying in plain view, to the left of the living room's TV on a media stand. Based on years of training and experience as a narcotics detective and police officer, I visually recognized this substance in the plastic bag was consistent with methamphetamine. I later collected this bag and later booked it into VPD property as evidence.

In addition to the plain view suspected methamphetamine I observed other signs methamphetamine was being used within the trailer, including broken glass consistent with the shape of methamphetamine pipes, and torn plastic bags consistent with those commonly used to package narcotics. I also observed what appeared to be numerous firearms parts laying in plain view, including the butt stock of a shotgun, the lower frame of a handgun, and a handgun slide. Some of these parts were consistent with those from replica firearms while others weren't immediately distinguishable from genuine.

As I worked my way to the back of the trailer, I saw two closed bedroom doors on opposite sides of a small hallway which extended from the living room. From her position in the living room DAVIS identified the door on the right as the room belonging to her friend Jonathan and the door on the left as the room belonging to Craig WHEELWRIGHT. I knocked on both doors and initially received no answer from inside. I then called out Craig's name while standing several feet away from the door on the left. After doing so, I heard a male voice from inside yell back to me "yeah." I told Craig it was the police and politely asked him to come outside of his room. WHEELWRIGHT replied by asking, "Who?" I again told WHEELWRIGHT it was the police. After receiving no answer, I called to Craig several other times making the same request. These additional notifications and requests were met with continued silence inside WHEELWRIGHT'S room.

While Officer Fernandez and I awaited the arrival of additional cover units, I conducted a records check on Craig WHEELWRIGHT via VPD dispatch. Dispatch soon advised WHEELWRIGHT had five warrants for his arrest.

Shortly after approaching WHEELWRIGHT'S bedroom door, a second male subject entered the trailer to my right through a side door. I verbally contacted the man (later identified as [REDACTED]) and directed him to the living room next to DAVIS.

Based on my observation of numerous either replica, or genuine, firearms parts; the fact there were plain view signs of rampant methamphetamine use by the home's occupants; and on the fact WHEELWRIGHT was refusing to come out of his room when he had numerous warrants for his arrest; I began to fear WHEELWRIGHT was arming himself inside of the bedroom. Furthermore, I was still unable to confirm whether or not a fight had occurred between a male and female as previously reported by the trailer's neighbors.

Prior to the arrival of additional officers, Officer Fernandez and I continued using the radio, spoke with each other regarding our tactical plan, and continued to have conversations with the other trailer occupants. Based on the proximity to WHEELWRIGHTS room, and on the fact he already verbally acknowledged my presence, I formed the opinion it was highly unlikely he was unaware we were still inside the trailer. Upon the arrival of K9 Officer Piro, myself and other officers formed a plan to physically breach WHEELWRIGHT's bedroom door and safely take him into custody. Prior to doing so, I made several additional loud announcements ordering WHEELWRIGHT to exit his bedroom. During these announcements I warned WHEELWRIGHT he would be bit by the dog if he didn't comply. These announcements were made only feet from the thin mobile home walls of WHEELWRIGHT'S room, and could be heard by other officers on the exterior perimeter. Furthermore, Officer Piro's K9 partner Roscoe was barking and whining, making the presence of a police K9 abundantly clear to anyone inside the trailer. Despite these repeated warnings and advisements, WHEELWRIGHT still refused to exit his room or even engage in additional dialogue.

After my above mentioned announcements were again met with negative results, I approached WHEELWRIGHT's bedroom door and used my left foot to force it open with a single strike. I then moved away from the threshold of the door and allowed Officer Piro and his K9 partner to enter the bedroom in an effort to take WHEELWRIGHT into custody. With the assistance of his K9 partner, Officer Piro was able to subdue WHEELWRIGHT on the floor just inside the bedroom door (See Officer Piro's supplemental report for further). I entered the bedroom after Officer Piro with my firearm drawn, and began to issue commands to WHEELWRIGHT to keep his hands where I can see them and place them out to his sides. WHEELWRIGHT was laying on the floor on his back while he passively ignored almost every single command that I gave him despite the fact that I was pointing my firearm in his direction. While I continued to yell at WHEELWRIGHT to keep his hands in specific positions, Officer C. Spencer entered the bedroom and was able to place WHEELWRIGHT into handcuffs.

After WHEELWRIGHT was assisted to a standing position, I began to see items of contraband laying around his body in plain view. Among this contraband was what I recognized as a glass methamphetamine pipe lying on the floor to his left, what appeared to be a digital scale consistent with ones which are commonly used to weight narcotics lying on the floor to his right, a second methamphetamine pipe lying in plain view on top of a media stand, a hypodermic syringe lying on the floor underneath where WHEELWRIGHT was laying, and spoon containing a white crystalline substance resembling methamphetamine lying on the floor where WHEELWRIGHT had been laying. I later collected the two pipes and the substance found within the spoon (later testing presumptive positive for methamphetamine) and booked them into VPD property as evidence.

Following WHEELWRIGHT'S arrest I contacted DAVIS and advised her of her rights per Miranda. DAVIS told me she understood her rights and agreed to speak with me. During our conversation I asked DAVIS if the methamphetamine found in the living room belonged to her. DAVIS told me it did not, and claimed she did not see it despite it being lying in plain view. DAVIS admitted she was a methamphetamine user and said she last used the drug about two days prior. I placed DAVIS under arrest for 11377(a) H&S – Possession of a Controlled Substance (methamphetamine) and was released at the scene after being issued a citation for the same.

WHEELWRIGHT was treated by Vacaville Fire Department Fire Department personnel and transported to Kaiser Emergency Room for treatment. While WHEELWRIGHT was receiving treatment from Kaiser and hospital staff, I issued him a citation for the above mentioned warrants in addition to the charges of 11377(a) H&S - possession of a controlled substance (methamphetamine) and 11364 H&S - possession of drug paraphernalia based on the items of contraband which were located in plain view on his bedroom floor. WHEELWRIGHT was later released to hospital staff after he signed the aforementioned promise to appear in my presence.

SOURCE OF ACTIVITY:

On 11-17-17 I (Willis) was working full uniformed patrol, in a marked black-and-white police vehicle, as an officer for the Vacaville Police Department. At about 2011 hours other officers and I were dispatched to 85 Calle Chapala in reference to a verbal argument between an unknown male and female.

INVESTIGATION:

Upon arrival to the location, I parked my patrol around the corner from 85 Calle Chapala and approached the mobile home on foot. As I awaited the arrival of my cover unit, I observed a Chevrolet SUV leaving the location in question. I advised other responding units of the Chevy's departure and indicated it may have been involved in the reported disturbance. This SUV was later detained by Officer Crigger, and a female occupant of the vehicle was arrested after she was found to have numerous outstanding warrants (See VVPD case# 17-09192)

Upon the arrival of my cover officer, G. Fernandez, we approached the front door of 85 Calle Chapala on foot. Once I reached the front door, I knocked on it several times. Soon the door was answered by a white female adult (later identified as Sherri DAVIS). DAVIS identified herself as the home owner and initially indicated that she was the only one present inside the trailer. I explained to DAVIS why we were called to the location and again asked her if anyone else was present inside her mobile home. DAVIS then admitted her friend "Larry" and "Craig" were inside the house in their respected bedrooms. I then briefly questioned DAVIS about why she would lie to me about the house being occupied by parties other than herself. DAVIS told me she was confused at which time I clarified what I meant by other people inside. DAVIS told me she understood at which time I asked DAVIS if we could come inside her residence to check for additional people and confirm no one had been fighting. DAVIS gave us consent to enter her home to check on the other occupants.

Prior to entering the mobile home, I asked DAVIS for Craig's last name. DAVIS identified her friend Craig's last name as WHEELWRIGHT. After hearing WHEELWRIGHT's full name, I immediately recognized him as someone who I had personal contact with in the past. Based on this past personal knowledge, I knew WHEELWRIGHT had been arrested by VPD on numerous occasions, that he was a formal parolee, and that he was a heavy methamphetamine user.

After entering the mobile home, I stepped into the residence's living room which was just beyond the front door. Almost immediately, I observed what appeared to be a clear plastic wrapper containing a white crystalline substance. The wrapper was laying in plain view, to the left of the living room's TV on a media stand. Based on years of training and experience as a narcotics detective and police officer, I visually recognized this substance in the plastic bag was consistent with methamphetamine. I later collected this bag and later booked it into VPD property as evidence.

In addition to the plain view suspected methamphetamine I observed other signs methamphetamine was being used within the trailer, including broken glass consistent with the shape of methamphetamine pipes, and torn plastic bags consistent with those commonly used to package narcotics. I also observed what appeared to be numerous firearms parts laying in plain view, including the butt stock of a shotgun, the lower frame of a handgun, and a handgun slide. Some of these parts were consistent with those from replica firearms while others weren't immediately distinguishable from genuine.

As I worked my way to the back of the trailer, I saw two closed bedroom doors on opposite sides of a small hallway which extended from the living room. From her position in the living room DAVIS identified the door on the right as the room belonging to her friend Jonathan and the door on the left as the room belonging to Craig WHEELWRIGHT. I knocked on both doors and initially received no answer from inside. I then called out Craig's name while standing several feet away from the door on the left. After doing so, I heard a male voice from inside yell back to me "yeah." I told Craig it was the police and politely asked him to come outside of his room. WHEELWRIGHT replied by asking, "Who?" I again told WHEELWRIGHT it was the police. After receiving no answer, I called to Craig several other times making the same request. These additional notifications and requests were met with continued silence inside WHEELWRIGHT'S room.

While Officer Fernandez and I awaited the arrival of additional cover units, I conducted a records check on Craig WHEELWRIGHT via VPD dispatch. Dispatch soon advised WHEELWRIGHT had five warrants for his arrest.

Shortly after approaching WHEELWRIGHT'S bedroom door, a second male subject entered the trailer to my right through a side door. I verbally contacted the man (later identified as [REDACTED]) and directed him to the living room next to DAVIS.

Based on my observation of numerous either replica, or genuine, firearms parts; the fact there were plain view signs of rampant methamphetamine use by the home's occupants; and on the fact WHEELWRIGHT was refusing to come out of his room when he had numerous warrants for his arrest; I began to fear WHEELWRIGHT was arming himself inside of the bedroom. Furthermore, I was still unable to confirm whether or not a fight had occurred between a male and female as previously reported by the trailer's neighbors.

Prior to the arrival of additional officers, Officer Fernandez and I continued using the radio, spoke with each other regarding our tactical plan, and continued to have conversations with the other trailer occupants. Based on the proximity to WHEELWRIGHTS room, and on the fact he already verbally acknowledged my presence, I formed the opinion it was highly unlikely he was unaware we were still inside the trailer. Upon the arrival of K9 Officer Piro, myself and other officers formed a plan to physically breach WHEELWRIGHT's bedroom door and safely take him into custody. Prior to doing so, I made several additional loud announcements ordering WHEELWRIGHT to exit his bedroom. During these announcements I warned WHEELWRIGHT he would be bit by the dog if he didn't comply. These announcements were made only feet from the thin mobile home walls of WHEELWRIGHT'S room, and could be heard by other officers on the exterior perimeter. Furthermore, Officer Piro's K9 partner Roscoe was barking and whining, making the presence of a police K9 abundantly clear to anyone inside the trailer. Despite these repeated warnings and advisements, WHEELWRIGHT still refused to exit his room or even engage in additional dialogue.

After my above mentioned announcements were again met with negative results, I approached WHEELWRIGHT's bedroom door and used my left foot to force it open with a single strike. I then moved away from the threshold of the door and allowed Officer Piro and his K9 partner to enter the bedroom in an effort to take WHEELWRIGHT into custody. With the assistance of his K9 partner, Officer Piro was able to subdue WHEELWRIGHT on the floor just inside the bedroom door (See Officer Piro's supplemental report for further). I entered the bedroom after Officer Piro with my firearm drawn, and began to issue commands to WHEELWRIGHT to keep his hands where I can see them and place them out to his sides. WHEELWRIGHT was laying on the floor on his back while he passively ignored almost every single command that I gave him despite the fact that I was pointing my firearm in his direction. While I continued to yell at WHEELWRIGHT to keep his hands in specific positions, Officer C. Spencer entered the bedroom and was able to place WHEELWRIGHT into handcuffs.

After WHEELWRIGHT was assisted to a standing position, I began to see items of contraband laying around his body in plain view. Among this contraband was what I recognized as a glass methamphetamine pipe lying on the floor to his left, what appeared to be a digital scale consistent with ones which are commonly used to weight narcotics lying on the floor to his right, a second methamphetamine pipe lying in plain view on top of a media stand, a hypodermic syringe lying on the floor underneath where WHEELWRIGHT was laying, and spoon containing a white crystalline substance resembling methamphetamine lying on the floor where WHEELWRIGHT had been laying. I later collected the two pipes and the substance found within the spoon (later testing presumptive positive for methamphetamine) and booked them into VPD property as evidence.

Following WHEELWRIGHT'S arrest I contacted DAVIS and advised her of her rights per Miranda. DAVIS told me she understood her rights and agreed to speak with me. During our conversation I asked DAVIS if the methamphetamine found in the living room belonged to her. DAVIS told me it did not, and claimed she did not see it despite it being lying in plain view. DAVIS admitted she was a methamphetamine user and said she last used the drug about two days prior. I placed DAVIS under arrest for 11377(a) H&S – Possession of a Controlled Substance (methamphetamine) and was released at the scene after being issued a citation for the same.

WHEELWRIGHT was treated by Vacaville Fire Department Fire Department personnel and transported to Kaiser Emergency Room for treatment. While WHEELWRIGHT was receiving treatment from Kaiser and hospital staff, I issued him a citation for the above mentioned warrants in addition to the charges of 11377(a) H&S - possession of a controlled substance (methamphetamine) and 11364 H&S - possession of drug paraphernalia based on the items of contraband which were located in plain view on his bedroom floor. WHEELWRIGHT was later released to hospital staff after he signed the aforementioned promise to appear in my presence.

SYNOPSIS:

This is a supplemental report regarding the arrest of S-Craig.

SOURCE OF ACTIVITY:

On 11/17/17 at approximately 2015 hours, I was on scene for a domestic disturbance at 1143 East Monte Vista Avenue #9 (Call #: 1711-068692). The call was such that it necessitated other officers on patrol to move their radio traffic to a separate channel in order to keep the air clear for priority traffic.

Once the incident on East Monte Vista Avenue stabilized, Dispatch indicated that an officer was requesting an additional unit on a separate incident he was working at 85 Calle Chapala. At that time, the call was being handled on a separate radio channel. I was advised via radio that a subject was barricaded inside of his bedroom and refusing to make contact with officers on the other side of the door. Furthermore, the subject was identified as Craig Wheelwright, who currently had five outstanding warrants for his arrest. The warrants ranged from traffic violations, possession of drugs and paraphernalia, to probation violation.

INVESTIGATION:

I responded to 85 Calle Chapala and began to read the call notes on the way. I learned that the call originated from an anonymous neighbor that heard some type of verbal dispute and yelling but did not see anything. As officers arrived, a vehicle was seen leaving the area.

Based on the preliminary information from dispatch about the barricaded subject; upon arrival I deployed my K-9 partner, Roscoe, and entered the trailer. I made contact with the primary officer, Officer Willis, and was advised of the following in summary.

Officer Willis made contact with the homeowner to investigate the alleged dispute and was advised that only she and two other males were inside of the trailer.

As Officer Willis was speaking with me, I looked to my left and saw a male and a female sitting on the couch in the living room. I told both subjects to get up and leave the trailer due to safety concerns. I clarified with Officer Willis if those were the two individuals that he initially spoke with, and he said that they were. He further told me that the female said the only other person inside the trailer was a male named Craig Wheelwright. She said that he had been staying at the trailer for a couple of days.

Officer Willis attempted to make contact with S-Craig by knocking on the door and calling out his name. Officer Willis said he established communication with S-Craig through the closed door but S-Craig failed to open the door then ceased verbal communication.

Officer Willis continued by telling me about his observations while he was in the trailer. He indicated he noticed replica firearms in the residence as well as a butt stock of what appeared to be a shotgun in another room. Officer Willis said he also observed illegal narcotics in plain view. Additionally, I recalled seeing what appeared to be some sort of long gun near the entry way, upon entering the trailer. It appeared to be a bb gun.

At that point, I considered the following:

- I possessed limited knowledge about S-Craig in terms of his criminal history. I have worked for the Vacaville Police Department for 11 years and during that time have heard his name several times in relation to the possession of illegal narcotics as well as incidents of domestic violence.
- Officers responded to investigate some type of verbal dispute or domestic disturbance. It was not only appropriate but necessary for them to conduct a welfare check inside of the residence to ensure that there were no injured parties or victims of some type of assault.
- Officers were met with resistance by way of S-Craig not opening his bedroom door and ceasing all communication with officers. Officers made several attempts to open up a dialogue with S-Craig and convince him to open up the door, with negative results. Based on my training and experience, a reasonable and rational person would cooperate with law enforcement given the circumstances if they, in fact, had not just been involved in a potential crime. Therefore, S-Craig's lack of cooperation was rather alarming. By his unwillingness to even speak to officers, they were unable to determine whether or not an additional party or victim was located somewhere else inside of the trailer or potentially fled the area in a vehicle to obtain immediate medical assistance.
- The information from Officer Willis regarding the illegal narcotics in plain sight was concerning as well. Based on my training and experience, I know that individuals that use illegal narcotics can oftentimes become very violent, particularly with law enforcement and in situations which pertain to their possible arrest. Illegal narcotics also affect one's judgment and decision-making abilities, which leads to an unpredictable nature.
- Based on my training and experience, it is very common for individuals who use or sell illegal narcotics to be in possession of dangerous and deadly weapons. They use the weapons to protect themselves from other drug dealers/users or rob them of their money/narcotics. They also possess weapons for the purposes of committing other crimes to support their habits or increase their credibility on the streets among other criminals. Weapons can consist of any deadly instrument, up to firearms, which based on Officer Willis's observations of replica firearms and a butt stock to a shotgun, placed me in great fear for my safety as well as the safety of other officers on scene.
- The fact that Officers were able to communicate with S-Craig up until the point where they identified themselves as law enforcement, further corroborated S-Craig's active resistance and the likelihood he was planning some type of combative response to whatever potential action we took next.

Because of the presence of illegal narcotics on scene, S-Craig's history with narcotics use, his history with violent behavior, as well as his lack of cooperation with law enforcement on scene by refusing to communicate or open the door for them; I felt it prudent to utilize my K-9 partner to preserve the safety of myself and the other officers on scene. We took a moment to coordinate a safety plan of how we were going to enter S-Craig's bedroom. We gave S-Craig two to three additional advisements for him to exit his bedroom or a police K-9 was going to be sent into his room and he was going to be bitten.

After no response, our plan was to force entry into S-Craig's bedroom, at which time I would release K-9 Roscoe into the bedroom from the hallway. I opted for this tactic for multiple reasons. First of all, I became concerned that S-Craig could possibly be lying in wait for officers to enter the room, at which time he could ambush them, causing serious bodily harm or death. Secondly, by allowing K-9 Roscoe to enter the bedroom first and attempt to locate S-Craig, he acted as a less lethal diversionary instrument, allowing officers to enter the bedroom while S-Craig was focused on the K-9 that had entered moments earlier. Therefore the likelihood that S-Craig would be able to assault the officers initially entering the room would decrease significantly. It was apparent that the use of the K-9 was the only prudent and appropriate tool given the situation.

With the safety plan in place and still no response from S-Craig, I requested Officer Willis breach the bedroom doorway. Officer Willis forced the door open by kicking it, then retreating into the hallway bathroom, at which time I released K-9 Roscoe into the target bedroom. As K-9 Roscoe entered the bedroom, he immediately made a left turn toward the rear of the door. I could see what appeared to be S-Craig behind the door. I immediately began to yell for S-Craig to show me his hands. Upon fully entering the room, I could see that K-9 Roscoe appeared to have made contact with S-Craig near his upper right shoulder. Roscoe then released and made contact with his right arm.

I saw that S-Craig was wearing a large puffy jacket and I began to yell for him to show me his hands. After several verbal commands were given, S-Craig put both of his hands up at which time I verbally called Roscoe back to a heel. Roscoe released S-Craig and additional officers entered the room to detain him in handcuffs. Paramedics were called to the scene and provided initial treatment to S-Craig before he was transported to Kaiser Hospital.

Once at the hospital, I was able to observe that S-Craig had an approximate one-inch laceration on his right cheek as well as an approximate four-inch laceration to the right side of the back of his head. There were additional rake marks across the back of his neck. I also noticed a couple of small puncture marks on S-Craig's right forearm.

Based on the extent of S-Craig's injuries, it was apparent that he was not going to be immediately released from the hospital and suitable for booking in the Solano County jail. Therefore, S-Craig was cited and released on his five outstanding warrants as well as an additional charge of possession of methamphetamine and possession of drug paraphernalia. (Refer to Officer Willis's report for further information.)

COMPLIANCE STATEMENTS

The calculated uncertainty is expressed as an expanded uncertainty in accordance with ISO 17025:2005 at the approximate 95% confidence interval using a coverage factor of $k = 2$ and has been calculated by statistical analysis of both Type A (repeatability) and Type B components.

The reported weight is the result of truncating the last readable digit (readability) from an observed weight.

Observed weights less than 0.01 gram are reported as residue.

When multiple specimens are analyzed and a "total net weight" reported, the uncertainty is the product of the measured weight uncertainty and the number of specimens analyzed.

ANALYSIS AND MEASUREMENT UNCERTAINTY

Item Number	Reported Weight	Measured Weight	Specimens Analyzed	Estimated Uncertainty	Range
Item #001-01	0.05	0.059	1	± 0.001	0.058 - 0.060
Item #001-02	0.11	0.118	1	± 0.001	0.117 - 0.119

All units of measure are in grams unless otherwise noted.

DEFINITIONS

Repeatability: Closeness of agreement between results of successive measurements of the same measurand performed under reasonably constant test conditions.

Readability (Digital): A change in indication of the least significant digit by one step.
